PUBLIC MANAGEMENT & POLICY ASSOCIATION

PMPA: promoting excellence in public management and policy

The Public Management and Policy Association (PMPA) promotes the value of public management and policy and brings people together to learn and deliver improved public services.

Committed to the diverse delivery of public services the PMPA builds successful partnerships between the public, private and voluntary sectors.
The PMPA is passionate about learning from experience and brings together senior managers from across the public services to reflect and learn together. We help bridge the divide between today's public managers and those who study public management and policy in the UK universities.
The PMPA strives not only to reflect and debate issues, but to change policy and delivery as a result. So join a vibrant community of public managers, committed to improving the delivery of public services in the UK.
